

OTIS TIBBETS, DENTIST.

OVER BANK OF SALINE.

O why should the gums of mortal be sore?
 Take Tibbet's advice and suffer no more.
 In all this great country from the east to the west,
 South, north, without trouble
 Tis he that is best.
 In cases of aching he gives quick relief,
 Be sure if your tooth is pulled the instant is brief.
 Be up and be doing, time glides fast away,
 Each moment that passes brings teeth to decay.
 Tell all the glad tidings, they'll suffer no pain,
 Should you have your teeth filled, his friend you'll remain.

Praises McAllister Springs

Referring to the visit of Lexington parties to McAllister Springs, the Lexington News says they have returned very enthusiastic over the waters and accommodations.

"The place is naturally beautiful, much shade, a splendid hotel, good accommodations at very reasonable prices. There is a park, a pavilion, and no intoxicating drinks of any kind are allowed to be sold on the grounds. The springs, of which there are six or seven, are close to the hotel. There is a black sulphur or as it is called "medical" spring, which is said to be a remedy for kidney troubles; a white sulphur, chalybeate, salt and one of the purest fresh water springs. These springs are especially good for rheumatism, exema of the worst kind cured, all liver complaints, and for many other diseases. In addition to all this it is a delightful social resort. The hotel is commodious and an excellent table is spread, while there are many cottages scattered about the grounds at reasonable rates.

"One can have hot and cold baths. There is splendid fishing within 150 yards of the hotel, a swimming pool and other attractions. Although early in the season, the hotel is largely patronized and anyone desiring a pleasant resting place at very reasonable prices can have it at McAllister Springs. They are very accessible, being about three miles from Houstonia and six mix miles from Sweet Springs."

A Mistake Somewhere.

A dispatch bearing date of June 27 and purporting to be from Marshall sent out by the Associated Press is a fake. No incident of the kind took place here, and the mistake probably occurred in attributing the place to Marshall, Mo., instead of some other Marshall.

Below is the dispatch as printed in the metropolitan papers.

KILLED HIS STEP-DAUGHTER.

Marshall, Mo., June 27.—William Woodward, a farmer, shot and killed his step-daughter and in turn was beaten to death by his neighbors yesterday afternoon. After shooting his step-daughter Woodward shot himself through the breast with his Winchester, inflicting what would have proved a fatal wound, but the man was still living when 15 men entered the house and with clubs beat his head almost to a jelly. Woodward shot his step-daughter because she had caused his arrest.

Vest at Sweet Springs.

Sweet Springs Herald.

Senator George G. Vest and wife were in Kansas City this week visiting friends. They came to this place yesterday to spend the summer in their beautiful cottage out at the Springs. The Kansas City World says, "Sentor Vest is in poor health compared with what he once enjoyed, but he is much better than he was a year ago. While there is little in his physical appearance to remind one of what the "Little Giant" was years ago, he has lost none of his spirit and he listens to and tells a good story with as much pleasure as ever."

A Strong Ticket.

The Republican ticket nominated is a strong one. The President has given the country a strong, conservative administration. There is no question but Roosevelt with his strong personality and brilliant achievements both in war and civil life will add much strength to the ticket. There must no mistake be made at Kansas City in the selection of a vice-presidential candidate if Democrats would win this fall. There must not be two tails to the ticket in this campaign.—Malta Bend Qui Vive (Dem.).

Someone has compiled the following ancient base ball statistics: "The devil was the first coacher says a retired base ball editor. He coached Eve when she stole first. Adam stole second. When Isaac met Rebecca at the well, she was walking with a pitcher. Sampson struck out a good many times when he beat the Philistines. Moses made his first run when he slew the Egyptians. Cain made a base hit when he slew Abel. Abraham made a sacrifice. The prodigal made a home run. David was a long distance thrower, and Moses shut out the Egyptians at the Red Sea."
